

Hello CLLPAG members,

For people living with cancers like CLL (Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia) or SLL (Small Lymphocytic Leukemia), the hospital experience can be frequent, daunting, and all consuming. To help support and manage this journey, AbbVie Pharmaceutical Company has created a global program, reaching Argentina, the UK, Canada, Israel, Europe and other regions.

As part of this initiative, the “Reimagining the Hospital Experience of Cancer” contest aims to bring together ideas from patients, innovators, friends, family members, and caregivers who are impacted by and interested in improving the hospital experience at clinic appointments, chemo sessions and inpatient stays. We hope you will share your ideas and become part of the solution to improve the lives of those living with this CLL/SLL. The topic is broader than just CLL/SLL because it was thought that more ideas would be forthcoming, but the focus after the contest will be to enhance the experience of a CLL/SLL patient.

Do you have an idea that can make a difference?

- Sign up at Cocreate Healthcare and create a profile
- View posted ideas and provide feedback
- Upload your own idea
- Chat with other patients, health practitioners, and caregivers

Join this exciting opportunity — as a patient you have the best ideas for ways of “Reimagining the Hospital Experience of Cancer”, start participating in the conversation and help spread the word! This contest is open to everyone, no matter where they live. Closing date for submissions is April 13, 2016.

A panel of experts will choose three winning ideas. A total of €6000 can be won.

To learn more about the contest, visit this link

Sincerely,

Deborah Baker
on behalf of CLL Patient Advocacy Group
<http://cllpag.ca>